Gordon the Garden Gnome

Gordon stands at the end of the path under the orange tree. His bright red cap seems to twinkle brightly under the dark green leaves.

The cap covers his head and hangs down over his back like Santa's sack. The blue stripes in his jumper match his long, blue trousers, which are tucked into his shiny, black boots. He carries a spade in one hand and a little bucket of yellow and white daisies in the other.

It is Gordon's face that makes him seem so special. He has fat, pink cheeks, beautiful, round, brown eyes and a dimple in his chin. No one has heard him, but he always looks as though he is laughing.

There wouldn't be another gnome like Gordon anywhere!
